Mobility in Europe

A period of study and work abroad will significantly increase your chances on the European labour market and enable you to make good use of the opportunities offered by a united Europe. The focus is not on professional qualifications alone, but also on encountering another culture, making yourself understood in another language and sharing thoughts and experiences with others.

Why do you feel that it is important to gain experience abroad? List three important reasons.

Decide on a target country in the European Union. Using the internet, research what kinds of opportunities are available to you for completing a learning or work experience there. Compile your findings in a brief summary.

What do you find especially interesting about the country you have chosen (also in regard to your respective subject area)? Why do you want to visit this country in particular? Outline your reasons in a brief presentation.
